

The Salvation Army International Development department partners with more than 35 Salvation Army territories around the world to bring hope to communities through programs that focus on mother and child health, safe housing, agriculture, education, clean water, child care, and so much more. Salvation Army projects bring dignity and long lasting hope to children and adults who might otherwise be overlooked.

Thank you supporting the international work of The Salvation Army!

Under the Tree

FILL A SCHOOL

UNDER THE TREE

The "Under the Tree" Fill a School fundraiser will support children and youth who, for a variety of different reasons, are unable to pay for school fees or school supplies. For 2021, the funds from this campaign will go towards supporting students at four Salvation Army schools in Liberia: William Booth High School, John Gowans High School, Len Millar High School and Polytechnic School.

Over the next three years, The Salvation Army's Brighter Futures children's sponsorship program has committed nearly $100,000 USD to support more than 60 students.

Your support will help provide schools supplies, uniforms and text books, as well as teaching materials for the school. With your support, students in Liberia can receive the tools and resources for a quality education.
